Allan,

While Sequenom's stuff is the most exciting thing going on in genetics right now, its not the only thing! I got Gopal to cover your nut, which is what you wanted, plus I am giving you 10% of Lenetix in writing. Now that we are about to enter a new phase, your going your own way. They are going to own you. Yes you will make money but is it going to be what you were looking for, making money and really enjoying yourself having fun.

I am not going to bring this up again, but I really think your making a BIG mistake if you go. You don't think its going to change anything between us, but I think this is wishful thinking. At least I will no longer feel that I can be as open with things that are going on in my life and Lenetix from that point forward. Its just not going to be the same. The deals that are about to close are going to out do anything Sequenom is going to do at least for ATB, your forgetting you will just be another compensated employee, not a partner!

Before you do something #%&*@!, maybe we both should fly down to Houston when you get back before you give them an answer.

I'm glad we spoke yesterday. This is not an easy decision.

Let's plan on getting together in Houston on the 13th. When I get back to Sun Diego I'll look into my schedule about flying to Houston on Friday night the 12th or Saturday morning the 13th, then I'll go on to DC on Sunday (I have a changeable ticket on Delta for the ACOG committee meeting).

What would work better for you? Coming in Friday night or Saturday morning?

Allan

I'll look into Friday evening/afternoon flights out of SAN to HOU. Are you flying there or to Hobby?

Let's plan to meet with Gopal on Saturday. You and I can meet Friday night. I'll call you later today - rushing to get caught up on emails after 5 days.
